• Chlorophyll a (Chl a) is the primary photosynthetic pigment in all photosynthetic organisms. It is a green pigment that absorbs light energy in the blue and red regions of the visible spectrum. Chl a is essential for the light-dependent reactions of photosynthesis, where it converts light energy into chemical energy in the form of ATP and NADPH.

1. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b were determined by the method of Arar and Collins (1971) using a Shimadzu 1601 UV-Visible Spectrophotometer. The concentration of chlorophylls was expressed in mg/L.

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It discusses the importance of the study and the objectives of the research. It also provides a brief overview of the methodology used in the study.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is expected to increase by 1.5 billion, from 1.1 billion in 1990 to 2.6 billion in 2010. The number of people aged 65 and over is expected to increase by 1 billion, from 350 million in 1990 to 1.4 billion in 2010. The number of people aged 15-64 is expected to increase by 1.5 billion, from 2.5 billion in 1990 to 4.0 billion in 2010. The number of people aged 65 and over is expected to increase by 1 billion, from 350 million in 1990 to 1.4 billion in 2010. The number of people aged 15-64 is expected to increase by 1.5 billion, from 2.5 billion in 1990 to 4.0 billion in 2010.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The first of the thirteen original states to declare independence from Great Britain was the United States of America. This was done on July 4, 1776, when the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence. The document was signed by fifty-five delegates from twelve of the thirteen colonies. The thirteenth colony, Rhode Island, did not send a representative to the signing. The Declaration of Independence was a formal statement of the colonies' reasons for separating from Britain. It declared that all men are created equal and have certain unalienable rights, including life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. It also stated that the British monarch, King George III, had violated these rights and that the colonies were therefore justified in declaring their independence. The Declaration was a landmark document in American history, as it established the United States as a sovereign nation.

THE CONSTITUTION

The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land. It was drafted by the Framers of the Constitution, who met in Philadelphia in 1787. The Constitution established the three branches of government: the executive branch, the legislative branch, and the judicial branch. It also defined the powers of each branch and the relationship between them. The Constitution is a living document, as it has been amended twenty-seven times since it was first adopted. The amendments have addressed a wide range of issues, from the rights of citizens to the structure of the government. The Constitution is a cornerstone of American democracy, as it provides the framework for the nation's governance.
